City dealing with a sewer issue, approves tax rates

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

The Stanton City Council had to move their regular meeting during Fair Week to this past Thursday, making it a special meeting. But the issues they discussed seemed to be the ordinary fare, with exception to a sewer issue on Maple Street.

The meeting's biggest time frame of discussion came when Maple Street resident Jean Bradley spoke to the council about her sewer line issue. Bradley lives near the Maple Street and Breckenridge Street intersection. According to her, the sewer line from her house and two adjacent houses come together and then join the city's main line. That has created some problems.

"We've had our house for 17 years and its been nothing but trouble with the sewer. About every two months I have to call Dale (Allen, mayor of Stanton) to have the city come clean it up," Bradley told the council. "My husband's disabled and can hardly walk and I can't clear it up myself anymore, so I call the city."

Allen advised the council that according to city water and sewer employees, the main line was placed in the ground in that area in the 1950's. Bradley's home is 37 years old and it appears that the builder of her home and the two neighbors, ran the three sewer lines from the houses into one line and then into the main line. The main line is on the opposite side of the street. When a line gets backed up, it backs up into these lines and Bradley has trouble.

BREAKING NEWS: LOTS COULD BE DONE IN A WEEK

In a special meeting of the Powell County School Board Monday night, a representative of Ross-Tarrant Architecture told the board that the "soft soil" issue seems to have got better with the drier weather in the staff's parking lot. Based on that the gravel and asphalt should be poured in that lot by Thursday. Work on the larger student lot will then begin. The same soil issue has plagued that area too, near the lower section around the old schoolhouse.

However, the representative believes and told the board that the larger lot could begin receiving asphalt by next week. It may take a few extra days before the striping is done, but the lots could be completed by the end of next week. The lots have been a sore spot for the district and there have been discussion about possible litigation. However, that may have been averted for now.

'The Greatest Generation' Community mourns loss of WWII Veteran Woodrow Frazier

Another brave member of "The Greatest Generation," Woodrow Frazier passed away on Sept. 15. He was 90. Frazier took part in a Clay City Times feature story in November, 2012 at the age of 88. The Times was trying to honor all of the 15 living veterans who fought and took part in WWII. Frazier was one of those brave souls and one of eight who were able to make it for the interview.

He served in the U.S. Army with the 3rd Armor Division under the direction of General George Patton from 1944-1946 in the European theatre. Frazier had two brothers who also served in WWII. One was in Europe, though he said he never saw him while he was there. The other fought in the South Pacific. Frazier saw most of his encounters in France. For a while he had to watch over prisoners of war as the war came to an end.

When Frazier came home he tried his hand at farming and even worked for his dad. "My father was the jailer here for about three years and I worked with him," Frazier recalled.

Many afternoons Woody, as he was known to most of the residents on Hardwick's Creek, could be seen working in the garden with his wife, Katherine. If you grew up "on the Creek", you knew Woody Frazier.

He was a lifetime member of the American Legion and DAV. He attended Clay City Baptist Church and was a former heavy equipment operator with the Powell County Road Department. Besides his wife, he is survived by one son, Phillip D. (Vivian) Frazier of Clay City; one daughter, Patty (R. Lee) Neal of Clay City; one sister, Vonnice Stewart of Rockford, OH; six grandchildren: Karron (Frank) Carter, Kevin (Arlene) Neal, Phillip Darron (Alicia) Frazier, Kimberly (Russell) Parks, Daphne (Anthony) Fannin and Timothy Frazier; and by 13 great grandchildren.

He was laid to rest on Sept. 18 in the Frazier Family Cemetery with full military honors.

Since that feature story was printed on Nov. 8, 2012, four of the eight men have passed away. They are Frazier, Harry Rose, Frank Snowden and John L. Cox.

26th Annual Living Archaeology Weekend

Times Photos by Megan Parker

The 26th Annual Living Archaeology Weekend was held at Gladie Creek Cultural Center this past Friday and Saturday. The event allows visitors to get a glimpse of the history of the area and how things were accomplished long before power tools and WalMart came along. There were displays that dealt with how cattails were utilized (left) or even how a hand saw is used (bottom left). There was even a display dealing with how knives were sharpened long ago (below). There was a little of something for everyone interested in history, archaeology and just learning more about the area.

Drug task force strikes again, hits residence on Main Street

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

Using information from an informant, the Powell County Drug Task Force made another raid last Wednesday night. This one took place on Main Street in Stanton.

Officers from the Powell County Sheriff's Office, Stanton, Clay City and the Kentucky State Police went to 510 North Main Street to execute a search warrant after an informant was able to purchase pills from a resident there. Drug task force officers say that Larry T. Lucas allegedly sold two green tablets later tentatively identified as 15 milligram Oxycodone to the informant.

The officers said they found the "buy money" in Lucas' wallet.

"It looks like he may have selling for a while," Powell County Deputy Marty Tipton said.

While searching the upstairs apartment of a former clothing store, where Lucas lived, officers found nearly 50 firearms. Handguns, shot guns, and assault rifles were found. There was also numerous boxes of ammunition, boxes of rolled up coins and various other items that appeared to still be in the original containers. The task force also found nearly $2,000 in cash.

None of the weapons that were checked were reported stolen however.

The Powell County Drug Task Force used information received and the ensuing investigation to get the search warrant.

"The search was a result of an investigation by the Powell County Drug Task Force where we are continually making controlled buys," Tipton said. "It is getting harder to buy pills around here, which is a good indicator that we are having a positive impact."

Lucas, 55, was charged with trafficking in a controlled substance first degree, first offense. He was lodged in the Powell County Detention Center.

All persons are considered innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

Above are just three of the nearly 50 firearms found inside a residence on Main Street in Stanton during a drug task force search last Wednesday night.

Clay City Council leaves tax rates the same, discuss members missing meetings

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

The Clay City Council may not have had a lot on their agenda to discuss last Monday night, but what they had was enough to keep them busy. The council voted to leave the tax rates the same as last year and briefly discussed what to do if a member cannot attend meetings.

The council voted to keep the city's tax rates the same, despite a report from Bluegrass ADD earlier this year advising a small increase may be necessary in some areas. They base that on a formula they use to help government entities decide on what revenues can be generated.

The council voted to leave the real property rate at .089 cents per $100 of assessed value and the personal property rate at .096 cents per $100. The vote was 5-0 to stay the course.

"I'm not sure exactly how they (BGADD) come up with their figures. They use some formula and then tell us what they think," Clay City Mayor James Caudill told the Times after the meeting. "But we look at things here and I just try to advise the council what Bluegrass ADD suggests. No one wants to raise taxes, but we also need to make sure we can afford to provide services the residents need."

The city has had a few issues with water line leaks and a water tower that has been leaking. But the city has been able to handle most of those issues for now. Though city leaders know that money can be tight when it comes to necessary repairs to public utilities.

Near the end of the meeting councilman Al Campbell asked if there was any statutes or laws about council members missing a certain number of meeting. Campbell's concern deal with fellow councilman Ralph Patrick, who has missed a few recent meeting due to poor health.

"I know Rhonda (Allen-Barnett, Powell County Clerk) called someone in Frankfort while I was in her office the other day and asked them," Campbell said. "They told her that cities could pass their own ordinance or rules about that."

City attorney Scott Graham said that there was no actual statute about missed meetings, but that a city body could vote on an ordinance or rule about it. Caudill chimed in that even if the city wanted to do that, by time the first and second readings were done the election would be over and it is possible it could be a moot point in the current situation.

"It's a tough situation. You have here where one of the members is sick and been in the hospital," Caudill added. "Its unfortunate."

The council took no action on the discussion.

In other action:

- The city hopes to have a map with the missing boundaries finally finished and completed this week. There has been some questions about the boundaries, especially behind the old sewer plant near the river;
- The parks and recreation committee reported that they received $109 in donations during the Ice Cream Social on Aug. 29. The also reported that they are preparing for the Clay City Christmas Parade. It will be held on the first Saturday in December which is Dec. 6 and it should begin at 1 p.m.;
- The parks and recreation committee also recommended donating $150 from the restaurant tax money to WSKV for providing the entertainment for the Ice Cream Social. The council approved unanimously; and

- The city's computer glitches appear to be fixed as the council was able to review and vote to accept the financial statements for the months of May though August. A glitch created a problem in having them ready for the council during the meetings in previous months, but they are caught up now.

Te next Clay City Council meeting will be held on Oct. 20 at the municipal building at 7 p.m.

"It backs up into my bath tub sometimes," she said.

"I thought it was illegal to have three houses on the same line," councilman Linville Bellamy asked. Bradley answered back that it is.

Allen tried to explain that the problem was not as much with the city's line, even though he admitted that at times the city's lines will back up and the city will clear them out. But it seemed to him that it was more of a problem with the builder's lines.

"I believe since you are all already on the line, if a line could be run from your house to the main line directly and not t-off with the other houses, then we could waive the hook up fee and maybe that would help," Allen suggested. He also said that the materials needed for such a line was inexpensive, but that getting someone to do the work for the property owners would be the most costly thing.

Allen told Bradly they would look into it and it may take a few weeks. She said she would be back if there was a problem.

The council then voted to approve the second reading of the water and sewer rates, which are increasing as previously reported in the Times. The water rates for the first 2,000 gallons for residents inside the city will be $16.42, with it costing an additional $5.48 for each additional 1,000 gallons. For those who receive city water outside the city limits, the first 2,000 gallons will run $20.94 and each additional 1,000 gallons will cost $6.93.

(The sewer rates inside the city will raise to $21 and outside will be $8.) Hook up fees will also increase and the ordinance can be found in the Times.

The council voted to approve appointing Billy Abner to the Powell County Tourism Commission. He will replace Chad Abner who is stepping down. Billy Abner was appointed by the Powell County Fiscal Court last week and the appointment is a joint one between the city and county.

The council voted to keep the motor vehicle and water craft tax rates the same. In fact they have been the same for almost 10 years or more. The rate will stay at 17.9 cents per $100 of assessed value.

The end of the meeting was used to talk about the parks. City attorney Scott Graham told the members about an incident in which he, his 10 year old son and fa riend of his son's was at the park. Graham said based on the language and behavior of some at the park the city could possibly be turning over a facility in which "hundreds of thousands of dollars" have been invested to a "group of thugs."

"It makes no sense to put that kind of money into the park, all the hard work you have done and let them take it over," Graham. "It will get where good, decent people will not let their kids come to the park if that is what they have to deal with."

The problem seems to be centered around the basketball courts. Graham suggested hiring a part-time person to over see the park during the evening hours, after school, to try to handle the problems. Besides unruly behavior there has also been some vandalism in recent months.

"We get called out there and usually it becomes a he-said, they-said situation," Stanton Police Lt. Arthur Lacy told the council. "If there was someone out there to point out who the trouble makers were, we would have no problem making them leave."

The council members suggested looking into locking the courts, since the colder season is about to set in. They also discussed looking into possibly hiring someone to oversee the park on a part-time basis. That may not come until next year. But no action was taken at this time.

The next Stanton City Council meeting is scheduled for Oct. 9in the Powell Circuit Courtroom. It begins at 6:30 p.m.

Creech invited to UK tryout

Jennifer Creech

Jennifer Morgan Creech, a senior at Powell County High School, has received an invitation to tryout in May for the University of Kentucky cheerleading squad. The coveted team only allows those invited to try out for their team. They look for the skills they need to continue to produce a National Championship team year after year.

After attending their clinic this past weekend they felt Creech has what it takes and extended the invite. After working for the past two years, with the current University of Kentucky cheerleaders, on perfecting her tumbling and co-ed partner stunting skills she is being recruited by the University of Kentucky, University of Hawaii, and Ohio State University.

She will be visiting Hawaii and Ohio State soon for official visits and looks forward to making that tough decision. She is finally realizing her dream is within reach and that being 4' 9" has its advantages.

Congratulations and good luck!

PCHS Staff Spotlight: David Faulkner

David is a 1987 graduate of Eastern Kentucky University with a Bachelor's Degree in Physical Education and earned his Master's Degree in Health/Physical Education from Morehead State University in 1994. David has been teaching for 26 years at PCHS and is currently teaching Integrated Health and Physical Education, as well as advanced Physical Education.

In addition to his teaching duties, Mr. Faulkner coaches the girl's golf team (14 years), Assistant girls' basketball coach (10 years), and the head coach of the fast pitch softball team (14 years). He also enjoys attending athletic events, announcing, prom, and any activities that supports the kids. In his spare time, Coach Faulkner's hobbies include being a sports radio broadcaster at WSKV, attending horse shows at United Mountain Horse, playing golf, going to Red's games with his family, and above all, spending time with his family.

When asked what David likes most about teaching at PCHS, he replied: "I enjoy teaching and talking to young people. This is where I grew up and graduated. I take pride in Powell County, this is my home and I care about the youth in Powell County. I enjoy getting to know our students and some are children and grandchildren of classmates and former students. I enjoy working with the staff at PCHS. I enjoy talking to the kids about the problems in our community – drugs, prejudices, drinking and alcohol abuse, conflict resolution, and the needs for safe sex and abstinence."

PCHS is proud to recognize David Faulkner as our Spotlight Staff member of the week and equally proud to have him on our team. Thank you for all you do for our school and our kids.

PCHS Student of the Week

Taylor Johnson

Taylor Johnson is this week's PTO Student of the Week at Powell County High School. She is the daughter of Shannon Johnson of Stanton and Angela Jefferson of Clay City, and the granddaughter of Larry and Stephanie Jefferson of Stanton.

Taylor is a senior and the vice-president of the Key Club, a member of the Beta Club and KYA, and a Senior Ambassador. As a Senior Ambassador, Taylor is one of a group of seniors who mentor freshmen in order to help them become better acclimated to the high school.

The best part about going to PCHS for Taylor is learning, because "the more you know, the further you'll get in life."

One of her favorite teachers is Charanda Fugate. According to Taylor, "she is always there for me, like my best friend, and the best teacher ever!"

Taylor was nominated for PTO Student of the Week by Cassie Rose.

In the future, Taylor plans to attend Morehead State University and become an anesthesiologist.

Student of the Week is a program sponsored by the PTO and recognizes students who are role models in the areas of study, effort, cooperation, and attitude. Other students nominated include Savanah Hamilton, Jennifer Roberts, Brooklyn Thacker, and Erika Tipton.

By JAMES ANDERSON,
Powell County Judge Executive

On Sept. 9 the Powell County Fiscal held its regularly scheduled meeting. All but one member of the court was present for the meeting. This month's meeting started with the public comment section and we had one citizen offer himself for volunteer work for the county. We appreciate this offer and are fortunate in Powell County to have so many people who serve in various posts and on boards, who receive no compensation and give to the community so much of their time. With this we moved onto the financial portion of the meeting. This portion was tended to very quick and we moved onto the old business portion of the meeting. Under this section we voted to put out RFP's for both the jail re-financing and for energy savings programs. Both of these have potential to save Powell County money and we will be able to obtain a lot truer estimates once we receive these back. To get the new business portion started Mark Wetherington came to present both the tax rates and audit for the Powell County Library. The tax rates were 5% for real property and 5.78% on personal property. I think it is also worth mentioning that there were no findings in this year's library audit. Mr. Wetherington and his staff should be commended for this accomplishment as well as the level of transparency he has brought to his post. The Powell County Extension Board also had their tax rates presented which were: real property 3.32%, personal property 3.77%, motor vehicle and watercraft 4.5 cents per $100. Next, was a joint appointment for the Powell County Tourism Board. Mayor Allen and I both accepted the board's recommendation of Billy Abner to fill the rest of Chad Abner's term. A resolution and inter local agreement to allow the Powell County Sheriff to join with several other counties to allow them jurisdiction in other counties when the need arises was the next topic discussed. Mr. Rog Matthews came and made a presentation as to what this agreement would mean and gave examples of how it would greatly benefit our law enforcement agencies.

Mr. Matthews also fielded questions from the court. At the end of the discussion the court voted to enter into this agreement. Both city agencies had already entered into this agreement. The court was made aware of two emergency declarations I had made. One was on Jer-rica Leigh Ln. and the other on Eli Ln. Both of these declarations came due to bridge structures that were washed out during one of our recent flood events. The State has visited and documented both and we will be able to receive emergency funding for both. We closed this portion of business by awarding bids to have both structures replaced with box culverts. We had two previous emergency declarations that resulted from culvert failures. One of those was on Echo Hollow Rd. and the other on Popular Bluff. We have already been awarded emergency funds to correct both these problems. The court awarded bids to have both of these repaired. Fair Day was the next subject to be reviewed. This has been a day that has always been on the holiday schedule but we had failed to include this year. The court voted to put this day back on calendar to correct the holiday calendar. A member of Powell County's Search and Rescue came before the court with a list of items they need to meet requirements for such a team. The court moved to allow the expenditures. I also made the public aware of the importance of having such a team as we continue to develop our adventure tourism industry. It was also noted that our Search and Rescue team had received some national media coverage as a result of one of their last rescues.

The next to last item addressed was our security systems. We have a few departments whose systems are in bad need of upgrading and some that didn't have any. After going over with the court where I felt we had the greatest needs and what I felt would be the most effective ways to address those needs the court voted to make these improvements. The last item tended to was the acknowledgment of receipt of the Powell County School Boards tax rates. They set their rates at 39% for real estate and property, 39% for tangible and personal, 50.2% for motor vehicle and 3% utility. I would like to once again thank you for giving me the chance to work for you in moving our county forward and remind you that I always welcome your input and suggestions.

Harvest time in America: Reaping and pursuing happiness in today's world

By GLENN MOLLETTE
Guest Columnist

Is happiness possible? Problems plague the world. They always have. The world has never been void of troubles. War, hunger and unhappiness have dominated this life. There is plenty to go around. The news gets us down. We hear about ISIS, Ebola and abusive NFL football players. We've watched communities torn apart such as Ferguson,

Missouri. On top of this we cannot avoid non-stop political ads that pick opponents apart but never offer solutions on how to fix some of our troubles. While we have dramatic national and world troubles many Americans struggle with unhappiness. We battle depression, drugs, obesity, personal and family issues and a lack of job skills to survive. Where is the happiness? We are only guaranteed the pursuit of this good feeling. We are only here briefly, so why not go for it? Today, go for some happiness, it's legal in America. With any pursuit there are seasons. There is the season of pursuing or planting. And then comes the season of harvest or enjoying what you pursued. Farmers understand this concept. Whatever you pursue is a possibility. Some pursuits take time and may be extremely difficult. However, that day comes when it sometimes becomes reality. Often the reality is never quite as enjoyable as we imagined. Or, it may be more than we imagined. With every accomplishment there is a price. It depends on how much you want to sweat, study, work and toil. Today, what do you want? What would make you happy? Often it begins with imagination. If we can imagine it we can begin to seek it. We simply have to know what we are seeking and why. Sometimes we don't know why. If we can determine what it is we want then with that clarity we can begin to knock on all the doors and utilize every possible roadmap to find what we think we want. Be careful what you think about. Often a simple thought may begin a whole new life for you, good or maybe not. Thinking about a new career, a new direction, a new hobby or a different lifestyle is the beginning. This is a good day to contemplate something good, lovely and positive. I realize a thought guarantees nothing. Many of us have been thinking about eating better but never do it. We think about giving up bad habits but constantly delay. We think about some new life choices that would make us feel better. Yet, we delay until tomorrow or just give up. Today is a good day to write down two or three things you really want to do. Carry this piece of paper with you every day. Finally, go for it. Even if it doesn't work out, half of the fun is pursuing the happiness. (The views expressed are those of the author and are not necessarily representative of any other group, organization or this publication.)

Senate candidate explains how her ‘priorities’ differ from her opponent

By ALISON LUNDERGAN GRIMES
Guest Columnist

When Mitch McConnell speaks to the Koch brothers and the other billionaires who bankroll his campaign, he pledges to them what he will NOT do. He will not permit votes, or even debate, on raising the minimum wage. He will not permit votes, or even debate, on extending unemployment insurance. He will not permit votes, or even debate, on easing student loan debt. I prefer to tell Kentuckians what I WILL do. I will fight for you and for Kentucky every day that I am in the United States Senate. I will put benefits for Kentucky ahead of partisan gain. And I will hit the ground running on Day One. I pledge that I will tackle these six issues as soon as I take office:

- Create jobs in Kentucky and raise the minimum wage. I will push for research and development money for clean-coal technology. I will make leveling the playing field with China a top priority, to end currency manipulation and unfair trade practices that cost hundreds of thousands of American manufacturing jobs. I will pursue public-private partnerships to diversify the economy in depressed areas. I will search tirelessly for the funds needed to rebuild our infrastructure. I will be an unwavering supporter of a national farm policy that helps Kentucky agriculture to expand to its full potential. I will also work day and night to raise the minimum wage to $10.10 an hour. It should not be seen as a minimum wage; it must be a living wage. The current wage doesn't lift a wage-earner's family of four out of poverty, even with a full 40-hour week. That is bad for these families, bad for the economy and bad for Kentucky.

- End tax loopholes that ship Kentucky and American jobs overseas. Mitch McConnell votes for measures that offer firms actual encouragement to avoid taxes by moving American jobs to other countries. I will fight relentlessly to end these tax breaks and to replace them with incentives to bring jobs home. That will be a large step toward reversing the jobs drain, and toward creating new jobs here in Kentucky and in America.
- Protect and strengthen Social Security and Medicare.

I will never vote to reduce benefits or eligibility for Social Security or Medicare. I will never support means-testing for Social Security, which is a back-door route to reduced benefits. I will never vote to privatize Social Security or Medicare, or to convert either program to a voucher system. Social Security and Medicare are essential to the welfare of our seniors. They represent a promise made by our society, and they must always be a promise kept.

- Champion equal pay for equal work. Equal pay for equal work isn't just a women's issue; it's a family issue. Kentucky women earn only 76 cents for every dollar paid to men, amounting to an annual gap of almost $10,000. Unlike Mitch McConnell, I support the Paycheck Fairness Act, which will help protect women against gender-based pay discrimination. In the Senate, I will also support employment and education legislation that prepares women for good jobs.
- Sponsor legislation to provide access for our veterans to good-paying jobs. I will work to make permanent the VOW to Hire Heroes Act, which provides businesses a one-time tax credit of up to $5,600 for every unemployed veteran they hire. The tax credit rises to as much as $9,600 for every disabled veteran a business hires. I will also work in the Senate to push our officials to end the backlog in veterans' compensation claims. Our veterans have sacrificed so much to preserve our freedoms. They were in the front lines for us. In the Senate, I will be in the front lines for them.

- Fight to reduce Kentucky students' loan debt. Kentucky students graduate with average loan debts of over $20,000, a crushing burden.

In the Senate, I will support legislation proposed by Sen. Elizabeth Warren to give our students the same great deal on government loans that are given to big Wall Street banks. That would mean allowing new student borrowers for one year to obtain a federally subsidized Stafford loan at 0.75 percent, as opposed to the current student loan rate of 4.66 percent. I will also work across party lines to champion a proposal to allow borrowers with older student loans to refinance at the rates established in 2013 for new, taxpayer-backed student loans. This is the agenda I will begin pursuing on my first day as your next United States Senator. Where Mitch McConnell will serve only the needs of billionaires and partisan extremists, I promise to fight for Kentucky families. I will fight for you. Thirty years is long enough. Kentucky deserves a new senator.

With the Political Season upon us, we at the Times wants to set up the ground rules for Letters to the Editor and Advertising.

- All Letters MUST be in be Friday, Noon. NO EXCEPTIONS
- All Letters & Ads MUST refrain from being overly negative toward an opponent and make no accusation that cannot be proved through legal documentation or reports that would stand up in court.
- The Editor, Owner and Legal Counsel for the Times have final say-so as to whether or not a letter or ad will run. They will run as long as they are done tastefully and without malice or misinformation that could bring a lawsuit.
- The Times will review ALL Letters and make necessary edits to ensure the letter meets the proper rules. As for ads, the newspaper can turn down any ad that does not conform to the rules. We want a good, clean race without any false accusations or misinformation. That should not be too much to ask for.
- More rules could be added if the need for them become evident and will be published on this page.
- As for letters, all the normal rules apply as to the number of words (300) that are allowed. Please adhere to this so more people can express their opinions too.

CCE gets visit from the police

The preschool students at Clay City Elementary have been learning about community helpers this month. On Tuesday, Sept. 16 Stanton Police Officer Phillip Frazier made a visit to the two pre-school classes at CCE.

Like last year, Frazier talked to the children about things like gun safety, what to do if they ever need help, and a little about his profession in general. He also allowed the students to check out his police car.

Officer Frazier was very friendly and patient with the children. He even took a picture with the students before he left. This experience allowed the students to understand that police officers are nice people and that they are truly here to help the people in our community.

Our Most Important Asset... Families & Children

Family Court is about human lives. And decisions involving families are the most difficult for any judge to make.

Larry Miller has experienced the human impact of Family Court as both a father and a judge. In 2001, he received court-ordered custody of his then two-year-old niece Sarah.

After personally going through the red tape and bureaucracy of the court system, Larry understands the hurdles and frustrations that are involved. Family Court involves our most important asset...families and children.

On November 4th, vote for a Family Court Judge who understands the system and can help guide you through it.

SJMS to host ‘Walk to Remember’ Oct. 12

Saint Joseph Mount Sterling, part of KentuckyOne Health will host its Walk to Remember event on Sunday, Oct. 12, 2014 for families to remember the loss of a child – whether through miscarriage, infant death, disease or accident.

Pregnancy loss or the death of a child is a heartbreak that hardly fades with time. Each year in October, Saint Joseph Mount Sterling sponsors a Walk to Remember and invites those who have experienced such heartbreak to a Sunday afternoon ritual of remembrance. The event will be held at Easy Walker Park (1395 Osborne Rd.) at 2 p.m.

The service concludes with the release of balloons attached to notes, prayers or names in memory of a lost child. The event often includes individuals who experienced a loss many years ago, as well as those who just recently lost a child.

According to the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, 10-25 percent of all clinically recognized pregnancies end in miscarriage and in most healthy women the average is about a 15-20 percent.

"The loss of a child is devastating and it is important for parents who experience this type of loss to feel loved and comforted," said Shelly Sanders, manager, Saint Joseph Mount Sterling Women's Care Department. "The Walk to Remember is a beautiful day of remembrance that also connects parents who have lost a child with others who have a shared experience for support."

In case of inclement weather, the event will be held in the lobby of Saint Joseph Mount Sterling. For more information about the Saint Joseph Mount Sterling Walk to Remember, contact the Women's Care department at 859.497.5460.

You can honor your loved ones or express thanks to those who have been a help during hard times right here on this page. Call 606-663-5540 or email cctimesnews@bellsouth.net for more details.

Fall Forages

All local farmers need to start thinking about how can I put together a better feed for our cattle. Cattle prices are unheard of now and we can afford to treat our pastures like a crop. We still have a little time to sow or re-do pasture fields with fescue, orchardgrass or timothy. For fields which are sparsely covered with grasses, but have lots of weeds, a farmer might consider drilling wheat, rye or annual ryegrass into these areas, to prevent winter erosion and to give cattle some late winter grazing. Drill wheat or rye into fields now at the rate of 1 ½ to two bushels per acre. Ryegrass can be drilled at the rate of 25 pounds per acre.

Fall is the ideal time to test your soil. Soil nutrient levels are at their lowest, after crops are taken off. Lime needs to be applied this fall, because it will take a few months-basically into next spring's growing season to fully be activated in the soil. Nitrogen applied to grass fields now will stimulate fescue tillering and will thicken stands for 2015. For your grass/legume fields, you will not need any nitrogen, only phosphate, potash and lime. Five soil tests are free to local farmers through the Powell County SCS district.

Fall is also a good time to think about broadleaf weed control. Buttercup will be sprouting by the end of October and will lie on top of the ground until March when it will shoot up and bloom. Thistles will start to develop in October as well. Kill these new weeds in mid to late- October while temperatures are still above 55 degrees for the best effect.

Harvesting and Handling pumpkins

For many people, pumpkins are a symbol of the fall season. Here in Kentucky, commercial farms are harvesting pumpkins, and they are readily available in local markets. For those Kentuckians that grow their own pumpkins, these are probably ready to harvest as well. Whether you grow or buy pumpkins for fall decorations, it is important to realize that careful harvesting and handling will help them last throughout the season.

Pumpkins should be harvested as soon as they are ripe and show a good orange color. Although ripe pumpkins can be left in the field for a period of time and tolerate light frost, heavy frost can cause damage. Do not try to harvest when the fruit and vines are wet since this can lead to the development of fruit rot. The best time to harvest is during sunny, dry weather. Cut vines with a pair of shears and leave four to five inches of stem, or handle, attached to the pumpkin to further reduce the chance for rot. Any pumpkins that display signs of rot should be left in the field since these will not store for very long.

Damaged pumpkins are much more likely to rot, so handle each fruit carefully to avoid bruising or puncturing the rind. Be sure to store pumpkins in a cool and dry location. To prolong the life of the fruit avoid exposure to direct sunlight as much as possible. Also, store pumpkins in a single layer to promote better air movement, which creates a less than favorable environment for bacteria and fungi.

As a consumer, avoid buying pumpkins that show any signs of rot. Also, steer clear of fruit that do not have handles or have handles in poor condition or are rotting. Handle pumpkins with care on the way home and store them in a cool, dry place out of direct sunlight. Keep in mind that once a pumpkin is carved, its days are numbered. After cutting, exposed surfaces become colonized with fungi and bacteria. The warmer the weather after a pumpkin is carved, the quicker bacteria and fungi will break down the fruit. To keep carved pumpkins fresher longer, spray the insides of each pumpkin with WD-40 or Chlorox Clean-up with Bleach (according to Extremepumpkins.com) –not necessarily a University recommended scientific recommendation.

For more information about harvesting and handling pumpkins, contact the Powell County Cooperative Extension Service at 663-6405.

Four Visitations and one Birthday Party

Last week was extremely tiring for my family and I. It seems like death in a community comes in waves, and so it did last week with the deaths of Bill Orme, Woodrow Frazier, Carol Howell and Frankie Cunningham.

I have known these fine families since I moved into Powell County. Bill was a fine man who everyone knew through the school system. He was everybody's coach, whether you played ball or not. I knew his family well. In recent years Bill would come to the office or call about trees in his yard which needed trimming or which might have had an insect problem. He loved his family, his students and taking care of his yard.

Woodrow Frazier and his wife Katherine have been my Garden Mentors since 1983. I strived to have a "Woody and Katherine" garden for all my days, but it never happened. They have shared with me hundreds of tomato plants, cherries, strawberries, grapes and numerous vegetables over the years. I never knew why they called on me to be their "County Agent". They knew far more about gardening than I would ever know. These all grew in a weed-free, disease free and basically bug-free environment. I could never understand how they did what they did with their garden. They worked in it from sunrise to sunset. They canned, dried, froze, chopped, pureed, cured...you name it, they did it with their home grown food supply. If Armageddon, or a nuclear war, or whatever bad ever took place, Woody or Katherine's was the place to be. There would be good, tasty food there for years.

I briefly attended the Celebration of Life for Ms. Carol Howell last week, as well. It was a beautiful ceremony. Ms. Howell was both my girl's teacher and often came into the Extension Office. More recently she would pick up gardening books for me at yard sales and other book sales. I remember a time when I visited her large grape vineyard way up on Furnace Mountain, many years ago. She always had interesting stories to tell and was an excellent teacher who always remembered her students. Many of them remembered her Thursday night.

Frankie Cunningham was also well known here in Stanton. He worked to help many people over the years to receive benefits at the Powell County Cabinet for Human Resources. It only seems that only a week ago, I saw him walk by the Extension Office on his daily walk through town.

How these families have been changed in basically a heartbeat, or lack thereof. These individuals will be greatly missed by their families and many of us across the county. Our county has suffered great loss this week.

On a happier, even more personal note however, Saturday marked the 80th birthday of my dear mom, Charlotte Reed in Lincoln County. I went down Friday night, after helping put together food for the 4-H livestock show and Sale. Saturday morning, it was my job to get the 80 year old lady to the Restaurant where 50 of her friends and family would meet her in the adjoining meeting room at 2 p.m. This was no easy feat.

First we had to leave early because she was hungry. I told the waitress to give us poor service. I stalled for one and a half hours, mincing down my catfish filets. I asked about everyone back in Lincoln County I knew or remembered, making small talk. I ate slowly, so slowly that she asked "Are you feeling OK, you're eating awfully slow". Finally 1:30 rolled around and she decided she was "ready to go home". I told her that maybe we needed to order dessert. She told me in no uncertain terms that I didn't need dessert with what I had already consumed. We shared peach cobbler anyway. Finally at 1:50. She was standing up. I texted my daughters-Here she comes, ready or not.

When they opened the door to the conference room, decorated with fall flowers, with 50 of her loved ones saying "Happy Birthday," she had a meltdown and cried. It was a precious sight, and I was exhausted, but it was all worth it. It will be a day she and I will remember the rest of our lives.

Happy Birthday Nanny Reed may you have many more, and in closing I want to share a birthday wish or saying that my mother in law says at each birthday gathering I have ever attended:

Many Happy returns on the day of thy birth
May sunshine and gladness be given...
And may the Dear Lord prepare you on earth
For a Beautiful Birthday in Heaven.....

Lee County Agriculture Class visits Powell Valley Millwork and H&S Lumber Mill

By JASON JEWELL
Special to the Times

On September 11, 2014, Lee County agricultural classes visited Powell Valley Millwork and H&S Lumber Mill in Clay City, to prepare for the Annual Wood Exposition Competitions in London. There, students were first greeted by the owner of Powell Valley Millwork, Michael Thornberry.

He and Bobby Ammerman, former manager, began to tell about the initial steps in preparing commercially sold lumber. From the moment the wood arrives until it is packaged and stacked, Lee County students worked hands on in the process. Students witnessed the cutting, drying, jointing, and trimming processes. The workers there insured our understanding of all that was going on and insured our safety by giving us safety glasses to wear and free earplugs.

Next, students were then taken to H&S Lumber Mill, where they were greeted by Tom DeFilippo, owner. He began by introducing students to what his business accomplishes. After describing the basics, he then began to familiarize them with log scaling, a competition some students may be completing at the Wood Exposition.

Tom then took students directly to the mill, where he explained how the logs are first debarked, and then cut, and sent on to be graded. Tom's wife, Lori, has been H&S's grader for upwards of 20 years. Lunch was eaten on site and Tom discussed blade and filing work soon thereafter. He was very attentive to all students and was very helpful.

Lee County Agriculture students had a wonderful day. While there, students learned a lot and should be ready to compete at the Wood Exposition. Thank you Powell Valley Millwork and H&S Lumber Mill for all your help and support!

“Let us not forget that the cultivation of the earth is the most important labor of man. When tillage begins, other arts will follow. The farmers, therefore, are the founders of civilization.”

Hope to see you in church !

Encouraging word: Take a second look

Howard Coop
Guest Columnist

For a moment, it was an eerie feeling.

On a cool Thursday morning in late May, I began the day as I usually begin a Thursday morning. For me, Thursday is laundry day. So, I gathered what needed to be laundered and took the basket to the laundry room.

As I began the usual process of taking items from the laundry basket and throwing them into the washer, I glanced out the window, and what I saw startled me. I saw something white, and my first thought was: “It’s late in May, and it’s not cold. Did it snow last night?” A second look, a little more than a glance, was more revealing, and it changed things. The area outside the window was white, but what I thought was snow was nothing more than some little white stones that had been used in landscaping to keep the weeds and grass from growing near the house.

At first, I passed that experience off as something of little significant. Then I began to think: Too often important decisions in life - a relationship with another person, a vocational choice, a business decision, a change in one’s professional career, and many others - can be made on nothing more than first impressions. But as I discovered that Thursday morning in a somewhat amusing way, first impressions are not always correct, and if allowed to become dominating influences, they can lead to wrong decisions.

About 370 B.C., Plato, the well-known Greek philosopher, had Phaedrus, in a dialogue, say, “Things are not always what they seem; the first appearances deceive many.” But after a second look, “The intelligence of a few perceives what has been carefully hidden.”

In every situation, a second look is important. It can move one to better things. Christopher Reeve put it this way: “So many of our dreams at first seem impossible, then they seem improbable, and then, when we summon the will, they soon become inevitable.”

Winchester company to hold job fair, focus on helping veterans

Job Fairs slated for Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays

Pearl Interactive Network, Inc. is accepting job applications at 1025 Bypass Road in Winchester, Kentucky on Tuesdays, from 3 p.m. to 8 p.m. Thursdays from 7:30 a.m. to 9:30 a.m.; and 3 p.m. to 8 p.m.; and Saturdays 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the 1025 Bypass Road location to fill positions at the Winchester facility.

Position Description: Answer incoming calls, inquiries and questions from customers, handle complaints, troubleshoot problems, and provide information. No selling, incoming calls only.

Facility operating hours are 9 a.m.-12 a.m. Monday-Sunday, all positions include benefits –employee medical coverage, Paid Time Off (after 90 days) and 2 weeks Paid training.

“This is a unique opportunity for a variety of reasons,” said Todd Scully, Program Manager for Pearl Interactive Network, Inc., in Winchester. “We are a company that cares and we take pride in being an employer of choice.”

Pearl Interactive Network, Inc., based in Columbus, Ohio, will be providing services for a federal agency at the Winchester facility, according to CEO Merry Korn. “We are seeking candidates who are driven to provide a positive customer experience.”

Pearl Interactive Network, Inc. is a national leader in providing excellent customer care services. Leading publications like BusinessWeek, the Harvard Business Review, and Bloomberg have recognized them for being an innovative social enterprise.

The Job Fairs will be open to the general public, and military veterans will receive hiring priority.

“It’s what we are about,” adds Todd Scully, “We believe it is imperative to support the men and women who have served. We also know we are tapping a workforce that consistently delivers high performance.”

“It’s refreshing to work for a company that looks out for the common good of their staff,” says Scully. “Not everyone can go to work each day and say they are a part of such an inclusive company.”

To pre-register for the Job Fair, please log on to www.pin-sourcing.com.

For more information, contact: Merry P. Korn, CEO, mkorn@pinsourcing.com or call (614) 893 -6511

PCHS Band ‘marching’ through the competition season

The PCHS Marching Pirates (seen above as they marched in the 2014 Powell County Lions Club Fair Day Parade two weeks ago) picked up some steam as they marched (pardon the pun) into their competition season. Last Saturday they traveled to Mason County and took seventh out of 12 bands, missing a proficient rating by just .9 points. They did beat some good bands including Ashland’s Paul G. Blazer Band. This weekend they travel to Corbin. Good Luck Band!

How much do you really know about Alzheimer’s Disease

PAM DOOLEY
County Home Ec. Agent

Whether you are a caregiver or someone who has concerns about memory loss, knowing the risk factors for dementia can help you make lifestyle changes that can benefit the health of your brain. Early diagnosis can also help you seek proper treatment and plan for the future, including decisions about caregiving, living arrangements, transportation, safety, financial and legal matters. Early diagnosis also allows those living with the disease to be an active member of the caregiving team and support teamwork.

While age is the single biggest risk factor for developing dementia, there are other issues that factor into the risk for dementias, such as family history, certain genes, head trauma, heart health, diabetes, high blood pressure and high cholesterol.

According to the Alzheimer’s Association, 10 warning signs of Alzheimer’s disease include:

Memory loss that disrupts daily life.

Challenges in planning or solving problems.

Difficulty completing familiar tasks at home, at work or at leisure.

Confusion with time and place.

Trouble understanding visual images and spatial relationships.

New problems with words in speaking or writing.

Misplacing things and losing the ability to retrace steps.

Decreased or poor judgment.

Withdrawal from social activities.

Changes in mood and personality.

What should you do if you see these signs in yourself or someone else?

- Talk about it. Be gentle but straightforward about what you are seeing and thinking.

- Encourage someone with symptoms to visit a health care professional so that they can be properly assessed and diagnosed. Some signs can be treated or reversed. It may not even be dementia, but another illness or problem that needs treatment.

- Learn about Alzheimer’s disease and the different types of dementia. Understand the importance and benefits of early detection and treatments to lead to a more productive lifestyle. Early detection can also help you plan for the future.

While medication can help improve or slow down memory loss and relieve some symptoms, there is no stopping the progression of Alzheimer’s disease. It is therefore important to stay healthy throughout your lifespan. In general, overall healthy aging can keep not only your body, but your brain fit and can help prevent the development of Alzheimer’s disease and related dementias. To stay healthy, it is important to keep your weight down, exercise both your body and mind, avoid drugs and excess use of alcohol and tobacco, stay socially connected in meaningful ways and eat nutritiously.

Giving credit where credit is due . . . Thank You

Last week we ran this photo of the 2014 Powell County Lions Club Agricultural & School Fair Declamations Contest Winners. However, we failed to give proper credit to Faye Stamper. Ms. Stamper was gracious enough to help the Times and we want to make sure she gets the credit she deserves. Thank you Ms. Stamper for your help and thanks to all of you who send us pictures or story ideas.

Parkway wreck sends two to hospital

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

Possible texting and trying to make a U-turn may have led to a two vehicle accident on the Mountain parkway last Friday afternoon. The accident sent two people to the hospital, one reportedly with serious injuries.

According to the Powell County Sheriff's Office the call came in just before 3 p.m. Callers reported that a 2001 Chevrolet S-10 had slammed into the back of a 2003 Ford F350 hauling tires. Both trucks were traveling eastbound about two miles from Stanton.

When emergency units arrived they found the Chevrolet truck half in the lane and half in the emergency lane, while the Ford was in the median. Both vehicles suffered severe damage. They also found three people were involved in the wreck, with two being injured.

Officers found Heather Walters, 31, of Stanton, inside the Chevrolet truck. Firefighters were able to remove her from the vehicle. Walters was taken by helicopter from the scene to the UK Medical Center. Reports indicate that she suffered some possible injuries to her liver, spleen and an ankle.

In the Ford, which belonged to Buddy's Tire Sales and Service from Georgetown, officers and emergency personnel found Robert G. Raglin, 55, and his passenger, Charles McDowell. McDowell's head apparently hit the back window and he was taken by ambulance to Clark Regional Medical Center. There was no report on his condition.

According to Raglin, he told officers that he was attempting to slow down and move from the passing lane to the right hand lane so he could take the upcoming Stanton exit. However, other drivers who witnessed the accident told deputies it appeared that Raglin was slowing down to attempt a U-turn at a paved location in the median. In fact one witness told deputies they saw a turn signal on Raglin's truck indicating such a maneuver was being attempted. However, no other witness reported seeing that.

The initial impact happened, according to investigating officer, Deputy Kevin Babcock's report, just 28 feet before the U-turn location.

Witnesses also told officers that Walters truck had been "drifting in and out of the slow lanes for several miles." They also said that it appeared that she did not either see Raglin's truck or was not able to determine that he was traveling slower, as there are no indications that she attempted to use her brake or try to avoid the impact.

Raglin told deputies that as he passed Walters' truck earlier he could see that she was texting. Officers did take two cell phones from Walters truck.

Following the impact, Walters truck traveled 222 feet before coming to a stop. Raglin's truck traveled 234 feet before coming to rest in the median.

Babcock's report indicates that the statements from witnesses and evidence at the scene, there is no "clear picture" as to what caused the accident.

The Stanton Police Department, both Clay City and Stanton fire personnel, Powell County Ambulance and Trans-Star Ambulance assisted at the scene. The Trans-Star ambulance was on their way back to their home base and was able to help. At the time Powell County had no more ambulances to assist, as they were on other calls.

Police: Woman arrested for AI at a local school

By JAMES COOK

Schools should be one place where alcohol or those drinking it should never be. But according to police that was not the case at Clay City Elementary last Thursday during the school's pick-up time.

Clay City Police Chief James Kirk responded to the school because of a report of an intoxicated female subject present at the school waiting to pick her children up. Kirk came upon 36 year old Stephanie Huff of Clay City in front of the school.

According to his report Kirk administered field sobriety tests and determined that Huff was allegedly under the influence of alcohol.

According to Kirk, in a telephone interview this past Tuesday morning, a breathalyzer test was administered at the scene and Huff blew a .183.

He also said that the incident was caught by his cruiser's dash cam.

Her family came to Huff's defense and vehemently denied the allegations in social media.

Huff was arrested for alcohol intoxication in a public place. She was lodged into the Powell County Detention Center.

All persons are considered innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

Rep. Richard Henderson examines a scale model of a satellite designed by Morehead State University students during the September meeting at the Mt. Sterling campus.

Rep. Henderson leads discussions on aerospace programs at MSU-Mount Sterling campus

While visiting the Morehead State University facility in Mt. Sterling this morning, Rep. Richard Henderson led the 2014 Special Subcommittee on Energy in a discussion Kentucky's energy and economic future.

"Many Kentuckians are concerned about the future of our energy economy and what we're doing to make our districts and state a leader on these fronts," Rep. Henderson said.

Various groups – many associated with the Morehead

State University – present before the committee on topics like biomass, biofuels, math and science education, and Kentucky's aerospace industry.

The aerospace industry, for example, now accounts for Kentucky's highest dollar-value export coming in at $5.6 Billion each year. That eclipses other goods like automobiles although many products are important parts of Kentucky's economy.

Morehead State University is offering its first degree in aerospace engineering this fall, according to Dr. Benjamin Malphrus. He noted that all faculty members teaching as part of this program have industry experience to better prepare students after graduation.

"It's important that we focus our attention to education, particularly at the local level," Rep. Henderson said. "Studies show that students who are educated near where they grow up tend to stay there and become part of the local economy."

Soccer teams pull of DH win over Morgan; Girls win programs 1st game

Photos by Vickie Miller

The Powell County High School Girls & Boys Soccer teams have taken to the field this year in their inaugural season. Last week they pulled off a double header win against Morgan County. The girls beat Morgan 5-3 for their first win of the season and for the program. The boys won 10-3. This past weekend the boys team took part in the Dry Ridge Toyota Invitational Cup and placed two players on the All-Tournament Team. They were Jordan Woosley and Brady Salisbury. Congratulations to them and to both teams!

Lady Pirates break even last week

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

Last week was a short week for the Powell County Lady Pirates volleyball team, if there ever is such a thing. Powell played six matches, winning three and keeping their hopes alive in regional play.

Last Wednesday the Lady Pirates hosted Breathitt County, a 14th Region foe and wasted no time in beating the visitors. In the first set the Lady Pirates sprinted out to an 8-2 lead with Timara Crabtree serving. They built up the lead to 13-4 with Tori Monnett as the third server, and made it 19-5 with Haleigh Ritchie serving. Powell ended the set by the start of the second rotation winning 25-9.

In the second set Powell again took an early lead, at 11-3, and never let the Lady Cats closer than five points the rest of the way. Powell took the set and match, 25-15.

Last Saturday, bright and early, the Lady Pirates took to the road to play in the bath County Citizens Bank Throw-down Tournament. Powell did not fare well there, going 2-3 on the day.

In the tournament action Letcher County Central, another 14th Region favorite, won over Powell, 25-12 and 27-26. The Lady Pirates bounced back to beat Mason County 25-13, 15-25, and 15-10 in the best two-out-of-three sets.

Marion County then took a match from Powell, 25-13, and 25-19. But Powell once again taking a match over Clark County, 25-23 and 25-20. In the last game of the day Rowan County won over Powell 25-15 and 25-16.

That made the Lady Pirates record 11-8 overall, 7-2 in the region.

As for this week the Lady Pirates were scheduled to play on the road. They were set to travel to Berea on Monday, Estill County on Tuesday and on the road to play the 14th Regions top team, Jackson City (14-1 going into this week) tonight (Thursday).

Pirates fall to Lewis, 37-20

By GREG MCINTOSH
Times Sportswriter

The Powell County Pirates football team has fallen on hard times in their last two games. The offense and defense have not been playing up to par. Powell was looking to get back in the groove this past Friday night at Lewis County.

The Pirates won the coin toss and deferred to the second half. Lewis got the ball after a short kick in Powell's end of the field. It took Lewis only two and a half minutes to score and go up 7 - 0.

Powell got the ball and drove into Lewis' territory but the offense stalled and the Pirates lost the ball on downs. Lewis ran the ball on the Pirate defense and scored on a 10 yard pass play to increase their lead. Lewis converted the two point play as well to lead 15 - 0 with 35 seconds to go in the first quarter.

Powell got the ball and the offense began to start to click. Jake Whitt ran the ball twice for first downs. Whitt also hit Chance Snowden for a 17 yard gain on a screen pass to put the Pirates in position to score. Whitt ran the ball in for a one yard touchdown and he kicked the extra point to bring the score to 15 - 7.

Lewis continued to run the up the middle with their big runners and scored again to answer the Pirate score. Lewis now led 23 - 7 with 5:44 to go in the first half.

Powell used just four minutes off the clock and scored on another Whitt touchdown run. The two point conversion was no good and Powell trailed 23 - 13 with 1:13 to go in the half. Lewis tried a long pass but Snowden intercepted the ball for the Pirates. Jeremiah Richardson ran for 39 yards on a third down play to put Powell into Lewis territory. Lewis held on defense and Powell was forced to punt and Lewis ran the clock out to end the first half, 23 - 13.

Lewis kicked an onside kick to start the second half. The ball went through a Lewis player's hands and was recovered by the Pirates Cameron Conrad on the Powell 48 yard line. The Pirates opened up the offense and scored on a Witt to Hunter Wolfe touchdown pass. Whitt connected on the extra point and Powell was within three points at 23 - 20.

Powell attempted an onside kick as the ball went through a Pirate player's hands and was recovered by Lewis at the 50 yard line. Lewis pounded the ball on the Pirates and scored in less than four minutes to lead 31 - 20. Powell's offense could not answer the Lewis touchdown and was forced to punt.

The Prate defense held Lewis and got the ball back as Lewis could not convert on a fourth and goal. Powell got the ball on the one yard line. Powell passed their way out of trouble, but the offense stalled and Powell had to punt as the fourth quarter began.

Lewis kept the ball on the ground and used up time as the Pirates were unable to stop the run. Lewis scored again to put the game out of reach at 37 - 20 with just 4:31 to play in the game. Powell again had to punt and Lewis ran the remaining time off the clock for the victory.

Powell now stands at 1 - 3 on the season. The Pirates travel to Irvine this Friday night to face long time district rival Estill County. This will be Powell's first district game of the season. Game time is set at 7:30 p.m.
